Early Childhood Family Education

*W*elcome to Shakopee Public Schools Early Childhood Programs

We know that parents want their children to be happy, healthy and thrive in school and life. All of our early childhood classes provide the foundational experiences that promote future school and life success.

As parents, you are your child's first and most important teacher. At Shakopee ECFE we provide opportunities for parents to connect, share experiences, and create a sense of belonging. ECFE offers children a place to socialize and play with a purpose and activities that build knowledge.

ECFE offers parents an invitation to rich discussions; many different voices coming together with the same goal - to explore what parenting means. Shakopee Public Schools values and welcomes ALL families in our community.

Kim Latterner

Shakopee Public Schools
ECFE Coordinator

All ECFE Classes include:

Parent-Child Time

This special block of time is set aside during class so you can focus on your child's development and relationship. The environment is designed to provide developmentally-appropriate activities for you and your child to enjoy.

Three types of ECFE classes are available to families.

Non-Separating Classes

Parents and children stay together in the classroom for the entire length of the class. A licensed parent educator leads discussion within the child's classroom.

Gradual-Separating Classes

Parents will gradually work toward parent sessions in a parent education room.

Separating Classes

Following parent/child interaction time, parents meet in a separate classroom with a licensed parent educator for parent discussion.

Child Time

Parent Discussion

ECFE's goal is to support and strengthen families. The parent educator works with the parents to create discussions that fit the needs of the group. Each group member is important in the learning process. Each parent brings information and insight based on past and present experiences. From these options parents can build parenting skills that fit for their family.

ECFE REGISTRATION PROCESS

All registrations will be processed on a first-come, first-served basis.

If your child qualifies for special services, please reach out to your case manager for placement.

Registration opens Monday, December 17th, 2018.

READY! for Kindergarten®

Facts about Birth to Age 5 Learning

- From birth to age 5, a child learns at a speed unmatched the rest of his or her life. Those early learning experiences influence success in school and beyond.
- Parents are a child’s first and most influential teachers.
- Waiting until preschool limits a child’s potential.
- Students who start kindergarten behind form the largest group of dropouts.

About the Program

READY! for Kindergarten provides workshops and take-home materials and tools, to inspire and empower parents and caregivers to help babies and young children develop strong brain connections that determine how they will think, learn and grow.

Parents and caregivers attend a series of workshops each year, based on their child’s age. They learn new skills and helpful tips to nurture development in ways that foster academic skills and personal behaviors to boost children’s motivation, perseverance and engagement in learning.

The READY! for Kindergarten program provides targets (age-level learning goals), training (ways to “play with a purpose”), and tools (take-home materials and toys) to make learning at home fun, easy and effective. Childcare for children six weeks through four years of age is available. Registration is required for the class and childcare.

Have You Filled a Bucket Today?

This heartwarming book encourages positive behavior as children see how rewarding it is to express daily kindness, appreciation, and love. When children have their buckets filled and learn how they can fill other people's buckets, too, they understand how special, valuable and capable they are.

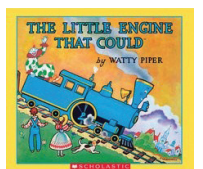

The Crayon Box Talked

After overhearing some crayons in a toy store complaining about one another, a little girl decides to buy them all and take them home. The girl picks up the colors one by one and draws. When the crayons see the picture they have all helped create, they realize that beautiful things can happen when everyone works together.

The Little Engine That Could

This classic, published in 1930, has charmed countless children over the years with its story of kindness, determination, and ultimately, success. Children learn the mantra of the little engine as she chants, "I think I can. I think I can. I think I can." The message is inspirational: Try as hard as you can, don't give up.

When Parents Know, Children Grow

Some babies and young children need extra help to learn and grow. While all young children grow and change at their own rate, some children experience delays in their development. Special health conditions may affect children's development, too. Accessing early intervention services as early as possible will ensure the best developmental outcomes for these children.

Help Me Grow: Infant and Toddler Intervention are special services and support for families with children ages birth through two who have developmental delay(s) or certain diagnosed physical or mental conditions or disorders that may result in a delay.

Help Me Grow: Preschool Special Education is for children ages three to five years who meet state eligibility criteria for developmental delay(s) or other disability and who are experiencing challenges in their learning and development.

After a referral is made to Help Me Grow, local school district early intervention or preschool special education staff will contact the family to determine whether a comprehensive screening or evaluation is needed to determine eligibility.

There are three simple steps to refer a child online:

1. Visit HelpMeGrowMN.org.
2. Click "Refer a Child" button.
3. Fill out form and click "Send this Referral."

To refer a child by phone, call 866.693.GROW (4769).

Introduce your child to STEM...

All children are born with a natural sense of wonder and endless excitement for learning how things work. This is evident when a baby drops their spoon from a high chair over and over or when a toddler explores a newly frozen puddle. Early exposure to STEM in a child's natural environment supports children's overall academic growth, develops early critical thinking and reasoning skills. As parents, you can support your child's sense of curiosity.

Try these activities with your toddler and preschooler at home...

Create ramps and send down all sorts of things that go! You can also introduce things that don't roll and see what happens! Grab some cardboard and toy cars, balls, and blocks.

Build, build, and build some more! Super high towers, houses, whatever your toddler is building with their blocks is expanding his design process and his engineering skills. Provide tons of cool blocks and read books with kids building neat things!

Mirror play, light, and reflection are always fun with a toddler. Set out a shatterproof mirror (supervised) and let them add small toys to it or even build with small foam blocks.

Show him or her their shadow, do shadow dances, or make shadow puppets on the wall. You can even set up stuffed animals to see their shadows too. Flashlights are always great fun.

Water play is wonderful for kids to explore some fun STEM ideas. Pick a variety of objects to test out sink or float. Or try adding a toy boat and filling it with rocks to make it sink. Have you ever added a sponge to a water bin? Let them explore water absorption! Simply filling and dumping a variety of shaped cups introduces volume and weight and measurements.

Blowing bubbles is a childhood must, but it's also science too! Make sure to blow bubbles with your kids, chase them, look at the colors. All of these simple activities set you up for more cool science later on.

The playground is an amazing place to explore gravity, different forces, and acceleration all through play. A jungle gym or playground is the perfect place to use physics in a playful way. Toddlers will simply love going up and down and sliding and hanging. As they get older and older you can actually introduce physics into the play.

Of course nature is a huge area of science and STEM for a toddler to explore. Get outside and find new discoveries everyday. Look for budding flowers or plant your own and check on their growth. Go on a bug hunt or play in the dirt and discover worms. Chase butterflies, measure rainfall, watch the leaves change color, catch snowflakes. Lie on your backs and talk about the clouds in the sky or feel the grass below you. My favorite science tool for any kid is a kid friendly magnifying glass!

Lastly, introduce and explore the 5 senses with your toddler. The 5 senses are unique to each of us and it's fun to watch young kids explore these. The 5 senses include taste, touch, sound, smell, and sight. Encourage feeling new textures, listening for birds, tasting a new fruit (and examine the seeds!), smelling the flowers, or watching the rain fall.

Take time to support your child to be a Scientist, Engineer, Techie and Mathematician through their natural curiosity!
